eSeminarsWorld 2005 Course Offerings

Need to get up to speed on a new project management area, but don't have time to leave your office?

No problem! With the help of a Semi-Synchronous™ Learning methodology, you can complete project management training online.

Although eSeminarsWorld courses are computer-based, their focus is on learning through human interaction. E-mail, discussion boards, and chats are used to create ongoing exchanges between an expert instructor and students from around the world. The Semi-Synchronous™ environment provides participants with the timely feedback they need for just-in-time learning.

Each course is comprised of discussion questions and group assignments. By spending just one hour a day, four days a week online, learners can complete a course in just a few weeks. Participants must have access to the Internet, and be available to log on Monday through Thursday.
